Carl D. Perkins Postsecondary Career and Technical Education Programs

Local Workforce Development Boards (Boards) must establish partnerships and develop and maintain memoranda of understanding (MOUs) with all Perkins-funded postsecondary programs operating in their local workforce development areas (workforce areas). The following list details the public community college district required partners for each Board, which are identified by tax region. Boards may use the Public Community and Technical College Chief Instructional Officer’s List to contact each applicable community college.

Secondary-Level School Optional Partners

Boards are encouraged to develop optional partnerships with secondary-level CTE programs, including Perkins-funded programs, by contacting regional Education Service Centers (ESCs), using the contact information found on the Texas Education Agency (TEA) ESC page or by contacting TEA directly.

TEA—College, Career, and Military Preparation

Partnership Benefits

Local partnership benefits may include collaborative efforts to involve local employers and industry organizations, especially those linked to local in-demand occupations, through career pathway development, advisory committee involvement, and placement of participants and graduates. CTE programs refer individuals needing support services so that they enroll in or continue in education programs. This will enhance student outcomes and increase local workforce development enrollments.

Community Services Block Grant Programs

Boards must ensure that they develop partnerships with all eligible entities providing community services block grant (CSBG) employment and training (E&T) activities, also known as community action (CA) subrecipients, in their workforce area.

The Texas Department of Housing and Community Affairs administers CSBGs in Texas and maintains a list of eligible entities in the state. Boards are encouraged to use the contact information found in Community Services Block Grant Eligible Entities in the State of Texas to contact each entity in their workforce area, listed below.

Partnership Benefits

Partnership benefits may include referring partner program participants to CSBG support services, such as child care, transportation, and emergency food services, as well as direct enrollment by colocated CSBG staff. Cross-training improves local knowledge of each partner program's role in providing customer-driven services. CSBG subrecipients that report similar participant outcome data to data required of WIOA Title I programs may benefit from data-sharing agreements with Boards.

US Department of Housing and Urban Development Programs

Boards must partner with any E&T programs funded by the US Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), such as Family Self-Sufficiency programs.

Boards are encouraged to use HUD's public housing agencies (PHAs) contact list to outreach PHAs directly and determine whether HUD E&T programs exist in their workforce area.

Texas PHA Contact Information

Partnership Benefits

Partnership benefits may include referrals from HUD partners to Workforce Solutions Offices career readiness services, including job fairs, résumé writing, interview preparation, financial and digital literacy classes, and staff-assisted job search. Eligible individuals may receive additional career, training, and support services through WIOA Title I, Adult Education and Literacy (AEL), and Vocational Rehabilitation (VR) programs.

Job Corps Programs

Pursuant to 20 CFR Part 686, Boards that have Job Corps centers operating in their area must develop a partnership with those centers.

Texas' four Job Corps centers and the Boards that are their required partners are listed below. The other 24 Boards are encouraged to contact the nearest Job Corps centers to develop optional partnerships.
